Penta Consulting's 'Banking Services' division specialises in management and business focused activity resources

These vary from supporting finance business and technical management procedures through to business analysis, banking systems support and niche system implementation. We have proven expertise in delivery of professional IT business candidates. We have proven expertise in delivering to all areas of the Banking industry from Retail to Investment Banking. Our dedicated teams with extensive investment banking, financial and business recruitment experience are able to deliver to your business needs. We find business knowledge is as important as the technical requirements.

We undertake Search and Selection techniques to identify dynamic IT and business personnel that can deliver real benefits within your ever changing environment.

I have found Penta to have an efficient and effective delivery capability across a range of skill and market sectors. The service provided to EDS by Penta has proven to be invaluable and I consider their financial market knowledge to be a genuine point of differentiation from their competitors.

“Working closely with Penta Consulting on senior business requirements, I have found their business acumen and investment banking understanding to be excellent, delivering high calibre candidates with great success to our project management analysis requirements.”

Programme Manager, ABN Amro

“Penta Consulting has continually delivered outstanding customer service, they have listened to our needs and their unique approach has added value to the organisation. We entered into a preferred supplier agreement three years ago; this has now evolved into a fully managed service. We have a true partnership based on trust and I know whatever our requirements are, our Penta team is totally committed to delivery.”

HR Director, UK Investment Bank
